CHARLEROI GIRL ATTEMPTS SUICIDE AT WASHINGTON

Miss Josephine Henry in Dying Condition at Washington Hospital

TAKES BICHLORIDE OF MERCURY

Discouraged Because of Lack of Sales —Girl Swallows Large Quantity of Deadly Poison in Room at Washington Hotel.

Discouraged [illegible] living, Miss Josephine Henry, aged 17 years, a daughter of Mrs. Henry Briggs, of Charleroi, swallowed a large quantity of bichloride of mercury in her room at the Nease hotel, South Main street, Washington late Wednesday afternoon and is in the City hospital at Washington in a dying condition.

Miss Henry left a note saying that she was discouarged and wanted to die and asked that in case of her death her mother be notified. Word was sent to relatives residing here of her attempted suicide and her mother hurried to Washington last night. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony of McKean avenue went to Washington today. Mrs. Anthony is a sister of the dying girl.

For two weeks Miss Henry and a companion, Mrs. Johnson, to whom she addressed the note, had been in Washington canvassing the town, selling women's toilet preparations. They had stopped at the Nease hotel since their arrival. Miss Henry did not make a sale yesterday.

Upon her return to the hotel between 4 and 5 o'clock Miss Henry said she did not have any money and had not had a bite to eat all day. After sitting in the lobby of the hotel for a few minutes, she went to her room. She did not intimate that she intended to attempt to take her own life.

Moans were heard coming from her room by a man who roomed in the house. He investigated and found her violently ill. He placed her on a bed and summoned assistance. A physician was hurriedly called. For a time the girl refused to admit she had taken poison but finally she said she had swallowed four tablets of bichloride of mercury about 30 grains in all. The bottle containing several tablets was found.

An emetic was given and at the hospital a stomach pump was used.

The condition of Miss Henry is stated to be extremely critical and no hope is entertained for her recovery.

Mrs. Albert Barker another sister of Miss Henry resides at Monessen.

CHARLEROI CONTRACTORS HAVE STARTED WORK NEAR DEEMSTON

Highway Improvement to be One of Moment—Will Prolong Bentleyville-Charleroi Speedway.

The Deemston borough council held a meeting near the Overholt bridge, Deemston borough for the purpose of determining whether a new bridge would be advisable or not. At a meeting at the council chamber they decided to build a bridge, an arch structure of brick. At the meeting plans were also made for securing stone for carrying on the road work in the borough the coming summer. Quite a lot of stone has already been quarried, and other quarries, it is understood, will soon be opened. Deemston, long noted for its progressiveness in road construction, has a large amount of work planned for the year. Work has been started by Hastings & Piper, Charleroi contractors on the short stretch of brick road from Turkeyfoot to the brick road, near the Mount Zion M. P. church, which when completed will make a stretch of improved road from Charleroi to Fredericktown.

VALLEY ITALIANS ARE IN READINESS

Many Italians Are Embarked From Pittsburg District For War

SECRECY VEILS ALL MOVEMENTS

The Italian vice consulate of Pittsburg has sent a hundred Italians to New York so far during the week to be transported to Italy's sunny shores to fight for their mother country. Some time during the latter part of the week they will set sail for Naples and thence go straight to the battlefields equipped with what knowledge of war they now have, it being stated that there is not time for an exhauseive training of Italy's men.

The matter is being kept secret as much as possible and it is stated that the departure from Pittsburg was one of great secrecy. One rumor held that more than 3000 men departed from the immediate district of Pittsburg for their native country. However, the railroad companies contradicted that statement by saying that no extra coaches has been provided or contracted for.

Laconically the vice consulate of the Western Pennsylvania district announced that about 100 Italians were soon to embark from his district for the trenches and field in Europe. In Charleroi and other towns of the valley Italians are being kept in constant touch with the condition of the war and many are ready at the instant of notice to rush to the aid of their native land in her onslaught against the Austrians.

Hudson, of California, secretary; Clark Reeves, of Charleroi, treasurer. After the issuance of the business meeting Mrs. Albright served a delightful lunch to the party and consequent to that the motorcyclists retired to the smoking den and forgot their sorrows amid voluminous clouds of tobacco smoke. At the next meeting plans will be made for the holding of race meets and hill climbs at frequent intervals.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION COMMENCES SUCCESSFULLY AT MONONGAHELA WEDNESDAY

Large Hosts of People From All Sections of County Attend the Opening of Three-Day Session In Monongahela

Even if the weather were chilly Wednesday morning the reception that was accorded the arriving delegates for the Epworth League Convention was anything but chilly. Every train Wednesday morning was well filled with delegates, while the street car facilities were taxed to accommodate the large number. Other means of travel were also used, one minister and his family driving in the family surrey all day Tuesday to arrive at Monongahela Tuesday night.

The Junior League held its first annual convention Wednesday morning at which time representatives of the younger department were in attendance from all over the Pittsburg conference. Miss Alva McDonough of California, superintendent of the Junior League Department was in charge of the meeting and presided.

At one o'clock Wednesday afternoon the convention proper opened under the most favorable auspices. More than two hundred delegates who had registered were in attendance. William Hogg, president of the Washington District was in charge and called the convention to order.

Rev. Herbert M. Carnahan, pastor of the church welcomed the delegates and friends to Monongahela and his hearty whole-souled offer of hospitality made all feel that they really were welcome and among friends. W. F. Williams of Noblestown made the response and thanked the Monongahela leaguers in advance for the treatment and entertainment that the delegates feel sure is to come. The regular business of the convention was then taken up.

Wednesday evening Rev. Raymond L. Archer, lately returned from Java, occupied the pulpit and spoke on "The Christ Man in Java".

The church was most handsomely decorated for the occasion, in the league colors and banners and the stars and stripes.

Wednesday evening a delegation composed of Misses Clara Pearson, Mattie Kelley, Priscilla Murray, and Vida Goehring and J. R. Carroll of Charleroi attended the sessions, Charleroi is also being represented today by a good size delegation. The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church here is planning to attend the picnic, to be held as the closing feature of the convention, at Eldora park in a body.

BENTLEYVILLE MAN IN SERIOUS STATE

Man Shot From Ambush at Bentleyville Suffers Hemorrhage

ASSAILANT STILL AT LARGE

Charles Stickles, aged 18 of Bentleyville who was shot from ambush at his home on Short street, is in a very serious condition in the Memorial hospital in Monongahela. Stickles suffered a hemorrhage today resultant of the bullet wounds he received. Every effort is being made at the hospital to save the man but the result of their efforts is rather doubtful at present.

After a great deal of exertions on the part of the Bentleyville police authorities no evidence was found that would lead to the discovery and arrest of the asailant of Stickles. Detective McCleary, of Monongahela, also worked on the case but he was not able to locate anything more definite than was Chief Thomas E. White, of the Bentleyville police force.

Latest reports also show that the murderer of Joseph Smith, who was murdered at his home near Webster early Sunday morning is still at large. This is significant in the remark that the assailant of Stickles was no other than the murderer of Smith. Police authorities are still hard at work on both cases and it is thought that only a short time will intervene before the assailants of both men are brought to justice.

A councilman of the police committee thinks the officers would greatly appreciate having their maces taken from them, politely states the Daily News. "It is more dignified," he said. True enough but it has never been horrifyingly offensive to see a policeman walking down the street vigorously twisting his mace in movements suggestive of a knowledge of its use. In fact it is as much reminder of the laws and ordinances as is the uniform and the badge. It has at least served the purpose of awing the youngsters and lending much needed confidence to the representative of the law.

We can imagine that the police really appreciate being relieved of the extra weight but it is debatable whether they will like the innovation which robs them of a dependable means of defense. As to being more dignified—we doubt if such a result can be accomplished. Imagine some of the officers of the Washington force being dignified. That would be a much greater hardship than carrying a mace, were it possibility.

But they aren't doing it in Pittsburg and we must keep the police force up to the latest standard of equipment and style. It is to be hoped that the Pittsburg cops aren't like as the borough treasury won't be able to stand very many changes in the styles of fitting out the officers and we couldn't bear to have our policemen going around in 1915 model equipment when the 1916 styles are on the market.

Still if the policemen are not to have their maces it is entirely the right thing to collect them. But why place them with the black jacks? One councilman thinks a person would welcome a blow from one weapon about as much as he would from another. In answer to this another councilman recited that the effects of the contact of the wood and the lead of the billy are different. It is to be inferred that the lead does the same work less objectionably.

But the merits of maces and nightsticks is not the most important question which comes before council. The censure of an officer for using his mace under what must have been very trying circumstances is like burning the candle at both ends. The man is being blamed and ridiculed for not doing his duty and when he undertakes to do it in a manner which seems to be the only dependent course he is told to desist and is disarmed of his mace. No wonder the policemen are discouraged. They are berated for being inefficient and when they undertake to do their work they are disgraced and severely reproved. It means that the entire force has not a leg left upon which to stand. They can't please everybody and they are not to be blamed if they wish to crawl into a hole and pull it in after them.

CURBING CUPID

In fineing a young couple for too ardent love-making in Fairmont Park Philadelphia magistrate lays down a rule for public demonstrations of love—a thoughtful consideration for the feelings of those who may be forced to witness the "spooning." A pair of summer turtle doves exchanged numerous kisses in plain view of crowds of passersby on one of the principal park drives and a grouchy person, with no sympathy in his soul, complained to a policeman and had them arrested. In pronouncing sentence the next morning the magistrate let it be known that no embargo was to be placed on love-making in the park when properly and circumspectly conducted. "But," said his honor, "your too ardent love-making might have spoiled the entire day of some visitors who are not accustomed to the joyous abandon of young lovers in the leafy month of June."

Poetically that reprimand is all right and shows that the magistrate has not forgotten his own youth. But the point as to the effect of such scenes upon others is even better law and better common sense. The antics of Cupid should not be paraded for public gaze. It shows a lack of delicate sentiment and may give rise to serious doubts as to the sincerity and good taste of the participants in such an exhibit. The ruling of the Philadelphia magistrate might be incorporated into a general law on the subject of park love-making. Without seeking to put a curb upon Cupid, it is still well to remember the advice of Solomon, who was, by the way, quite an expert on the subject of wooing that there is a time and place for all things and a park bench in view of passing throngs is hardly the place for kissing your best girl even in the "leafy month of June."

PICKED UP IN PASSING

At West Point they tell a story of a man, known as "Ginger," on account of his hair, who was graduated at the foot of his class after six years at the Point.

Ginger distinguished himself while reciting to an instructor in ordnance by a remarkable answer to the question. "How many pieces will a 12-pound shell burst into?" the average number having been determined well by experiment.

After due reflection Ginger lifted his eyes to those of the instructor and replied:

"Not less than two."

Someone has advanced the opinion that the letter "e" is the most unfortunate character in the English alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger and in hell all the time. For some reason, he overlooked the fortunates of the letter, so we will call his attention to the fact that "e" is never in war and always in peace. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life and heaven. It is the center of honesty, makes love perfect, and without it there would be no editors, devils, nor news.

Our Daily Special.

The other fellow has no trouble in locating the silver lining in your cloud.

Luke McLuke Says:

When you talk to some men about capacity they imagine you are talking about tankage.

There are a whole lot of jokes about a woman paying $100 for a new hat and about the his friend husband throws when he gets the bill from the milliner. The truth of the matter is that you could walk around town for two hours and not see a woman wearing a hat that cost more than $15. And the average woman pays less than $10 for a hat.

Nature offers some odd problems. A dog isn't worried and hasn't anything to worry about, and yet a man lives four times as long as a dog.

After glancing over some of the bills passed by the state legislatures this year a man often wonders if the legislators spend their time crocheting wrist warmers while they are listening to debates.

The old fashioned boy who used to be sent to bed without his evening meal when he misbehaved now has a son who is sent to bed without his evening glass of beer when he does anything wrong.

The reason why a woman likes to be rich is because her husband is always complaining to the company that his gas bills are too small and that he burns more than he is charged up with.

You can marry in haste, but it is mighty slow work paying for the furniture at the rate of a dollar a week.

A boy's father knows that the boy is freckle faced, pug nosed and snaggle toothed, but the boy's mother knows that he is the handsomest boy in the world.

A girl thinks a whole lot of a mustache if her fellow is raising it, but it is different if she is raising it herself.

There would be a heap less trouble in this world if a man would figure out how he is going to let go before he takes hold.

This is a free country, but the man who goes around with a flock of Skye terrier whiskers on his face has no business laughing at a Chinaman because the Chinaman wears a pigtail.

every detail. Not only the amusement publications of the country have made same so that in respect to its high moral character, which is the chief consideration in a proposition of this kind in this place, there is no question.

As to the calibre of the amusement features this indicated by the fact that that Vittucci's Royal Italian Band, superior to any other band now before the public, as a free feature. There is the Captain Curley Wilson who has dared death thousands of times in capturing the wild animals, which go to make up the wild animal show. Frank Levine, the boy trainer, is responsible for the excellent training that those animals have received. The fact that Levine is the most daring of animal trainers as well as a most clever one, is demonstrated by the way he has succeeded in subduing a wicked old lioness who has been given up by the older trainers. Levine and the lioness get along after a fashion and the fashion is so often a violent one, but nevertheless Levine is making a great headway and some day expects to have the beast as docil as a kitten.

Another free attraction is afforded in the most continuous band concerts. These are contributed by two bands, one a military band recruited from musicians in this country and the other nothing less than Vittucci's celebrated Royal Italian band. WHY REMEMBER THE UGLY?

Would Seem to Be as Easy to Recall Points of Beauty of One's Acquaintances.

Did you ever experience the sensation of hearing yourself physically described by another who did not happen to know that you were within earshot? If so you may have heard yourself pictured as "that short-legged man with the scraggly gray mustache, you know."

You may have been pained or amused—it all depends upon your sense of humor or the fitness of things. But do not despair at your portrait. Just listen some time to a pair of men when one of them is trying to recall to his companion a third individual, the latter seen perhaps only once years ago by the auditor. The gentleman jogging the other man's memory is likely to sketch the absentee in a few bold strokes, something like the following:

"Oh, sure you remember him—the fellow with long yellow teeth—he parted his hair near his ear and he had a scar on his chin!"

"Now, I do," cheerfully replies the other at this piece of graphic description, and then adds his own touch: "He was with a little chap who stuttered and wore big spectacles of tortoise shell!"

And the interesting question it brings up is why do people, generally speaking, remark defects and singularities rather than perfections and beauties? A man with long yellow teeth might have had fine eyes and a noble head set upon his shoulders, and a begoggled chap with a stammering tongue might have had a Greek profile and an artist's hands.

We are assured that beauty is everywhere, yet people seem to take particular note of the ugly. No doubt it is easier to see the ugly than the beautiful in humanity, but why take the easier way?

Transit of the Human Voice.

The sound of the speaking voice must be transformed rapidly into heat if it is to be heard distinctly. When the sound persists the echoes overlap and the acoustics of a room is faulty. By measuring the tones of the voice in a lecture room of Harvard university, which were at first audible for five and a half seconds after utterance, Dean Sabine of the graduate school of applied science changed the materials in the room with reference to the factors of reverberation, interference, and resonance or "echo" with pronounced success. An important article by him in the Journal of the Franklin institute concludes as follows:

"While these several factors, reverberation, interference and echo, in an auditorium at all complicated are themselves complicated, nevertheless they are capable of an exact solution, or, at least, of a solution as accurate as are the architect's plans in advance of construction. And it is entirely possible to calculate in advance of construction whether or not an auditorium will be good, and, if not, to determine the factors contributing to its poor acoustics and a method for their correction."

Rough on Tommy.

The mails from home had just been received by a certain regiment. Not only were there letters, but many parcels from relatives and friends at home for lucky soldiers. One of the Tommies received a large box addressed to himself, and with a triumphant yell he rushed off to his company's lines and gathered them around him to share in the eagerly anticipated contents of his box.

"Smokes, lads!" he cried as he undid the wrapping. "From the old man: I know it. An' there's sure to be a bottle or two of Scotch."

He opened the box, gave one look at the contents and collapsed in a heap.

"What is it?" cried his comrades, pressing around.

"It's from old Auntie Mary," groaned the disappointed warrior. "Bandages an' ointment an embrocation an' splints, an' a book on 'Ow to Be Your Own Surgin'!"—London Tit-Bits.

Private Cars.

In the town of Mombasa on the East coast of Africa the private car question has been settled to the satisfaction of every white resident, by providing a private street car for each of them. The cars are pushed by a native black and are small. They are fitted with a wide seat which will hold two persons.

The tracks of this private road lead through the main streets of the town, with switches to the stores and clubs. Each owner of a car has a switch to his yard and, boards his car in the same manner as an automobilist.

The road is financed by each car owner, who pays a certain sum each year for upkeep. The road is used for no other purpose than to carry the owners on their outing or calling expeditions.—Wall Street Journal.

Finding Key in Dark.

The latch key on a ring ordinarily is the most difficult to find, particularly in the dark, but if it is attached to the ring it will come out right side up and ready for use. A chain saves the annoying experience of reaching home only to discover the keys have been left at the office, but for those who do not like to carry a chain, an extra ring may be attached to the important key in place of the chain. It is then easy enough to find the ring among the keys, even in the dark, and on getting hold of it, a slight shake brings the desired key into position for use.

$800 for Partridge Dinner.

Partridge dinners came exceedingly high to three of the residents of Balmville, a suburb of Newburgh, N. Y. Penalties aggregating $1,150 have been imposed on them by the state game department for having violated the law in buying partridge, which is prohibited at all times.

The three offenders were Mrs. F. Delano Hitch, who is active in philanthropic work; Frank V. Burton and Dr. S. A. Waldron. Mrs. Hitch suffering the heaviest penalty, paying $800.

This is said to be the heaviest fine ever imposed for an offense of that kind in this state. The partridge were sold by Mrs. Chauncey Ferguson for her husband, who shot them. Mrs. Ferguson gave information which led to the imposing of the penalties.

Disappearing Peach Trees.

Some of the Colorado fruit growers on the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains have adopted an ingenious method for protecting their peach orchards during the winter season. The plan, which has been found to be a meritorious one, consists of bending the trees down to the ground, covering their branches with hay or straw and then burying them under about two inches of soil, in much the same way as blackberry and raspberry bushes are cared for in cold climates. Although in the past the peach trees in this section suffered much damage and frequently were killed outright during the winters, by this method of culture they are surviving severe weather without difficulty and bearing good yields of fruit.

Camphor in the Philippines.

The bureau of science of the Philippine government is making a study of the plant known as Blumea balsamifera known by the natives in the Philippines as "sambon" or "gabuen," which produces camphor. The shrub is one of the most common weeds in the Philippines. It grows from five to eight feet high, with a stem almost woody in texture, and has long been used by the natives of the Philippines as well as by natives of China for medical purposes. The Chinese in parts of Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces already distill considerable camphor from the plant, the chief drawback to the more extensive use of it being the amount of labor required to secure the gum. The bureau of forestry at Manila is introducing the ordinary camphor tree of China and Japan into the mountain districts of Luzon in large numbers for the purpose of building up future camphor production in the islands.

Mr. Museum's Office.

A senate page was whiling away the time in the statehouse corridors when he was approached by a sightseer who asked where the museum was. The accommodating page said he didn't know, but he would find out, and he led the sightseer in to a nearby office.

"Where's Mr. Museum's office?" the page asked.

The attache of the office finally got the matter straightened out and the sightseer was put on the right track.—Indianapolis News.

HAPPINESS FOUND IN WORK

Labor Also Is a Great Builder of Character as Well as of Fortune.

One day we happened along where there was a road-working bee, says the Breeder's Gazette. Neighbors had turned out to improve the highway and to make safe some dangerous stretches of a much-traveled road. Among the workers one was especially notable for his energy and enthusiasm. He worked as though he enjoyed it; his heart was in the endeavor and he shoveled earth, rolled rocks and laid on gravel with cheerful enthusiasm.

Another man was a laggard, who sat often watching the workers, offering them advice more in raillery than in a spirit of desire to aid. Here is what we were told:

'See that man who works so hard? He does not need to work. He started thirty years ago with his two hands his head, an old gray mare and fifty acres of poor land. Today he owns numbers of farms, besides interest in all sorts of enterprises. He is a good citizen, always public-spirited and ready to help. That fellow sitting on the fence? Well, he has never yet been on the township as a public burden, but that is the best I can say of him. Work and he fell out many a long day ago."

It is not so hard to guess which of these two men spent that day the happier hours, who spends year after year the happier hours. Work builds men as well as fortunes.

A Smart Coat Suit Which Loses None of Its Chic When Made at Home

Pleated skirts and pleated peplums on the coats are new and becoming. This model is especially suited to linen, taffeta or woolens. No material for the Summer suit is more cool and crisp looking than linen: season after season finds at least one suit of linen in the smart woman's wardrobe. Taffeta is greatly favored, too, for suits: it is dressy and appropriate for almost any occasion. Gabardine vies for favor with the various wool suitings. With collar and cuffs of white, novelty buttons, and perhaps just a touch of the popular braid trimming, it may be appropriately worn for afternoon, for shopping, or as a business suit.

BOY IS BOUNCED FROM AUTO AND PRECIPITATES DOWN HILL

Alex Koosenick, Jr., son of Alex Koosenick, Sr., of this place suffered several minor injuries Wednesday when he was bounced from the tonneau of an automobile driven by his father on the Monongahela road. Goodyear Fortified Tires Cost Users $5,000,000 Less

Our last price reduction—made February 1st—will save Goodyear users about five million dollars this year. And that was our third reduction in two years, totaling 45 per cent.

Yet Note This

Yet Goodyear Fortified Tires embody many extras. Five are costly features found in no other tire. The rest are found in few.

If we omitted those extras, we could save on this year's probable output $1,635,000. We could add that to our profits, yet Goodyear tires would look as good as now.

This year's improvements alone will cost us $500,000 this year. All to give you extra wear. And we shall spend $100.000 on research this year to find more improvements still.

They Are Yours

These extras belong to you. They mean less rim-cuts, less blowouts, less loose treads. They mean more rubber, more fabric, more mileage, less trouble. Most tire users know that, so Goodyear tires far outsell any other.

Prove it yourself this summer. It will bring you tire contentment.

Any dealer, if you ask him, will supply you Goodyear tires.

Men are now adopting Goodyear tires faster than we can supply them. We have never seen anything like it.

Goodyear Fortified Tires Cost Users $5,000,000 Less

Our last price reduction—made February 1st—will save Goodyear users about five million dollars this year. And that was our third reduction in two years, totaling 45 per cent.

Yet Note This

Yet Goodyear Fortified Tires embody many extras. Five are costly features found in no other tire. The rest are found in few.

If we omitted those extras, we could save on this year's probable output $1,635,000. We could add that to our profits, yet Goodyear tires would look as good as now.

This year's improvements alone will cost us $500,000 this year. All to give you extra wear. And we shall spend $100,000 on research this year to find more improvements still.

They Are Yours

These extras belong to you. They mean less rim-cuts, less blowouts, less loose treads. They mean more rubber, more fabric, more mileage, less trouble. Most tire users know that, so Goodyear tires far outsell any other.

Prove it yourself this summer. It will bring you tire contentment.

Any dealer, if you ask him, will supply you Goodyear tires. Men are now adopting Goodyear tires faster than we can supply them. We have never seen anything like it.
